TERRELL TALKS.

Declares That He Never Felt Better in His Life.

Eagerly Looking Forward to His Release on Saturday Next.

A reporter called at the county jail yesterday and had a talk with Edward A. Terrell of Nashua, who has been confined there for the past two months for allowing liquor to be sold at a hotel owned by him in Derry, the complaint being made under the nuisance act. Terrell was sentenced at the October term of court in this city by Judge Chase to pay a fine of $200 and serve a sentence of two months, the same expiring Sunday, Jan. 16.

Mr. Terrell said, in answer to a question, that he was glad that the term was fast drawing to a close. Said he: "Just before you came I was talking over the case with my friend Charles Butman of Manchester, who is confined here for contempt of court, and whose sentence of six months expires in twenty days. We were fighting the hours, before I should once more breathe the fresh air, and I found that it was some over a hundred.
Of course I am glad to get out, although I never felt better in my life. I have been living high since my confinement.
I suppose if I was to stay here any length of time I could get used to the food, which is prepared here, but as my time was so short I have had all my meals brought in to me and have had the best of the land afford.

"My stay here has been very pleasant.
I have gained from twelve to fifteen pounds. Sheriff Collins and myself have become the best of friends. I have all the priviledges that one could wish for, with the exception of going out of doors.
As regards the proposed reception to me here, I know nothing of the Elks or Odd Fellows being connected with it. I am not a member of either, but am of the Odd Fellows. I have many friends, though, in both orders. I shall go from here Sunday morning, or rather will be met here by a few of my most intimate friends from Nashua, who will arrive Sunday morning. I understand they will escort me, with Dr. W. H. Lyons of this city—for the doctor says I am his guest for that day—to Hotel Rockingham, where we will dine. At the conclusion of the dinner I have four or five calls to make upon friends in and about this city.
In the evening, with the Nashua boys, I will leave on the 7.40 train for Boston, remaining over Monday. On Tuesday I shall go to my home in Nashua, where I am to be tendered a reception. You see I am a member of several local organizations, the Boat club and others, and they are the boys who will do the right thing."

In regard to the sentence Mr. Terrell said: "I was never so much surprised in my life. I did think that I would receive a good reprimand by the judge, and perhaps a light sentence, but never that which was dealt out to me. You bet I will have a deal to say when I get home to Nashua.
"I did miss being home Christmas. You see I had just fitted up a new store. I have had all bills sent to me here and have sent my checks from here. Although the answers well enough, I should rather be at home."

The Time to Strike Has Come

Speaking of dry docks is a reminder that nothing has been said recently about building one at Portsmouth. It was noted some time ago that Senator Chandler had the matter in hand and would push things along at the opening of congress, but thus far about all that has been heard from the senator is in signed prophetic editorials in the far away newspapers and that he cannot agree with his colleagues in the matter of dealing out the few offices that remain to New Hampshire. Congressman Sullivan also promised to look after the interests of this state in this particular, and somebody believed that inasmuch as the navy yard is on the shore of Maine, Speaker Reed and the rest of the Maine delegation would help out. Perhaps the time to strike has come. It is proper, however, to keep New Hampshire's claim before the people. Meantime it looks as though John D. Long was having things all his own way and that Boston is to be the favored port—Nashua Press.

Oak Castle Installation

Oak Castle, K. G. E., met at their castle hall in regular session last evening and the following officers were installed: Past Chief, Arthur S. Johnson; Noble Chief, James E. Chickering; Vice Chief, George P. Knight; High Priest, Orville E. Hawes; Venerable Hermit, Fred Gardner; Keeper of Exchequer, True W. Price; Clerk of Exchequer, A. L. Phinney; Master of Records, S. R. Gardner; Worthy Chamberlain, Chas. F. Cole; Ensign, John F. Hill;
Esquire, E. P. Gidne;
First Guardsman, W. H. Hampshire; Second Guardsman, W. P. Gardner.
The officers were installed by Deputy Supreme Chief R. S. Hannaford, assisted by Grand High Priest S. R. Gardner and Grand Sir Herald A. L. Phinney, and after the installation a banquet was enjoyed followed by vocal and instrumental music. A feature of the banquet was a roast pig furnished by Sir Knight John S. Young.

Joseph Holland.

The excellent organization which is playing Madeline Lucette Ryle's most successful comedy, "The Mysterious Mr.
Bagle" has probably contributed as much as any to the play as the author. Mr.
Joseph Holland, who heads the cast, is without doubt the finest delineator of facious character now before the public.

Mr. Holland, however, is not the only artist in the company. He is surrounded by a lot of clever people most of whom were with him in the original cast. The more important ones are Gretchen Lyons, Joseph Kilgour, Edgar Norton, Agnes Findlay, Winona Shannon, Charles Co-lins, Harry Phillips and Master Michaelson. "The Mysterious Mr. Bagle" is one of the attractions booked here for the near future.

Want a Side Track.

There is a movement on foot to induce the Boston & Maine railroad to build a side track along the water front as far as E. Newton & Co.'s. The building of such a line would give the many large business concerns in that section what they have long desired. It is understood that the men will have the matter talked up by the Board of Trade and then present the matter to the officials of the road. The Portsmouth B. & W. company would be greatly benefitted by such a move, and a petition will be started for signature.

nesday occurred the death of Samuel Perry, a well known citizen of the town, at the ripe old age of 76 years and three months. Deceased leaves one brother,

Birthday Party.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Wetherell was the scene of a merry gathering last evening, the occasion being the 13th anniversary of the birth of their son, Willie, and a number of his friends had gathered there to celebrate the event.
Music and games served to pass the time away, and at nine o'clock tea was served, and headed by Willie Wetherell and Lottie Merrill, marched to the dining room, where a tempting array of delicacies awaited them. Cautious among the table decorations was a huge bouquet of household flowers, presented by Mr. Robert Patterson. Master Willie was the recipient of many beautiful presents, chief among which were three large birthday cakes, appropriately inscribed. It was at a late hour when the merry company took their departure, after wishing their host many such happy occasions.

Championship Whist this Evening

The second game in the series of whist arranged by the New Hampshire Whist league will be played at the Warwick club rooms this evening. The team representing the Warwick club of this city having won the greatest number of points in the first game played by the league at Manchester, will retain the magnificent silver trophy until defeated by one of the other teams in the league.

This evening the strong team known as Manchester No. 1, and composed of the best whist players in the Calumet club of that city, will be the opponents that the Warwick team will have to play and a close and exciting game is expected.

The Warwick team is playing great whist at the present time, and the members of the club have great hopes of their coming out victors in tonight's play.

The makeup of the two teams will be as follows:

Manchester No. 1.—Priest and Darrah, E. A. Stratton and E. S. Stratton; Warwick.—Simpson and Mitchell, Pickering and Call.

Resolutions.

The following resolutions were drawn up by the police department on the death of Assistant Marshal Walter S. Gray:

Whereas God in his all-wise providence has removed from our midst our brother officer, Walter Scott Gray, Assistant Marshal,

Resolved, That while we bow in humble submission to our Heavenly Father's will in removing from us our brother may we take this lesson home to our hearts to be true to every trust, that in the end it may be said of us, "Well Done."

Resolved, That we extend to the believed family our heartfelt sympathy in this time of sorrow.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of our deceased brother.

barges are all hauled up for the winter.
A number of them will undergo exensive repairs before the season opens in the spring.

No arrivals were reported at the custom house for the past 24 hours which is something unusual.

At the annual meeting of the Missionary society connected with the Middle

Vice President, Mrs. L. E. Staples;
For the foreign department, and Mrs. John

Navy Yard Notes

The new 40 foot cutter built at this yard a few months ago has been turned over to the Commandant and is dispatched as the Commandant's barge at this station. It is a beauty and is one of the fastest in the service. The steam barge used at this station for years by the Commandant has been ordered to be shipped to Newport. It is number one on the list of steam cutters in the service.

Chief Engineer W. G. Buehler with Ensign Loomis, Master Machinist John Hayes and Master Boilermaker M. E. engines and boilers of the Alliance.

Commander R. E. Impey U. S. N., Naval Constructor Bankson U. S. N. and Master Shipwright W. F. Noyes have practically completed their survey of the work required in the construction department.

A high honor has been conferred upon Secretary of the Navy John D. Long's daughter by the Japanese government who have invited her to christen the new cruiser to be launched at the Cramp's yard on January 20th.

Secretary Long has instructed the Judge Advocate General of the Navy to proceed against the contractors that built the new dock at the yard a New York to recover damages.

It is expected that orders will be received next week to go ahead with the repairs on the Alliance.

The repairs on any of the ships at the New York yard, waiting, could be made here without delay.

Working for Exeter River

Last year Daniel Gilman of Exeter, wrote to Senator Gallinger, asking him to endeavor to secure an appropriation for the reopening of the channel in Exeter river, and for any further improvements that might be needed there in the interests of navigation. At the request of Senator Gallinger, Colonel Damrell, a government engineer, was detailed to make a survey of the river. This was done, and in his report Colonel Damrell stated that he found the river worthy of improvement, and if nothing more was done, at least the old channel, made by the government in 1874, should be restored to its original depth. He stated in his report to the Secretary of War that the plan of improvement was to obtain a channel not less than forty feet wide and six feet deep at mean low water up to the Osbow, and from the Osbow to Exeter wharves, a channel for the same width and five feet deep at mean low water, with a turning basin at Exeter wharves 200x110 feet.

Colonel Damrell estimates the cost of the needed improvements to be $14,400 including blasting and excavation. Senator Gallinger is greatly interested in the matter, and now has the matter in hand.
I was talking with him yesterday regarding it, and he assured me that the required appropriation of $14,400 would be included in the river and harbor appropriation bill to be passed at the present session and that the improvements at Exeter river would certainly be made.

KITTERY.

Mrs. Caroline O. Chapman one of the best known women in this town died this morning. She was the widow of W. O.
Chapman and had reached the age of 77 years and 8 months. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. George B. Gibson and an unmarried daughter, two sisters and one brother. Her death will be learned with deep regret as she has been a life long resident of this town.

Some unknown party broke one of the large windows in C. M. Paine's store last night by throwing a bottle from the late electric car. Constable Perkins is

The many friends of George W. Going will be pleased to learn that he is much improved in health and expects to be able to be taken to his home on Saturday.

If the Boston yard continues work nearly all the mechanics here will be represented.

WHEN A STAMP IS NOT GOOD.

It Will Not Answer in Place of Coin in Slot Machines.

"That drugist at the corner is the rud-est, most impolite person I ever saw," observed young Mrs. Hawkins at breakfast.
"If you" replied her husband, with a rising inflection, as he turned a page of his paper.

"Harold Hawkins, I just believe you haven't heard a word I've been saying.
Such a man I never saw. Why you're actually reading an old editorial with as much interest as if it was an advertisement."

"Certainly, my dear, I heard everything you said. You said—that was it that you said."

"I said that the drugist at the corner is the rudest, most impolite person I ever knew. Look here, Harold, is it or is not a 1 cent postage stamp worth a penny?"

Mr. Hawkins laid down his paper and looked full at his wife. "Angela Hawkins," he said, "I hope you know what you are talking about, for I'm sure that I do not."

"Well, I'm sure I made it plain enough even for you to understand; is a 1 cent stamp worth a penny, or—"

"It is certainly worth a penny, my dear.
You could get it for less, even on Monday."

"Thank you. That is what I've been trying to get at. You know the weighing machine at the corner drug store, do you not?"

Mr. Hawkins groaned. "The place where you go to be weighed every time anybody says you are looking well, for fear you have gained an ounce? Yes, Angela, I do."

"I opened my pocketbook I found I had nothing but a nickel. I was not going to have that changed and carry four pennies home, so I was coming away when I happened to see a 1 cent stamp tucked down in the corner."

"Well," said Mr. Hawkins, with one eye on his paper.

"Well, a bright idea struck me, and I put that in the slot. It was worth a penny, anyhow, you see, and I seldom use a 1 cent stamp."

"Well," gasped Mr. Hawkins.

"Well, the old machine wouldn't work at all, and when I went in and told the drugist about it, thinking, of course, he would give me my stamp back, he only laughed, and—why, Harold Hawkins, what on earth is the matter? Are you crazy?"—Chicago Times-Herald.

this city, getting up a new insurance map.
He walks through all the streets and notes all changes and new buildings that are erected.

There is a big expense in an undertaking of this kind with lots of hard work but Mr. Dwyne is confident of completing his work inside of three weeks

A LITTLE SUFFERER

Face, Hands and Arms Covered With Scrofulous Humors—How a Cure Was Effected.

"When five years of my little boy had scrofula on his face, hands and arms. It was worst on his chin, neck and arms.
On his cheeks and hands were very bad.
It appeared in the form of red pimples which would fester, break open and run and then scab over. After disappearing they would break out again. They caused intense itching and the little sufferer had to be watched continually to keep him from scratching the sores. We became greatly alarmed at his condition. My wife's mother had had scrofula and the only medicine which had helped her was Hood's Sarsaparilla. We decided to give it to our boy and we noted an improvement in his case very soon. After giving him four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla the humor had all been driven out of his blood and it has never since returned."

KELLEY--SHERWOOD.

Portsmouth's City Solicitor Takes unto Himself a Bride.

Brilliant Reception Follows the Ceremony at the Residence of George B. French

City Solicitor John W. Kelley and Miss Romaine Goddard Eagle Sherwood were united in marriage on Wednesday afternoon at 5:45 o'clock at the rectory of the church of the Immaculate Conception by Rev. John B. Delaney.

Miss Margaret V. Kelley, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid and Mr. John A. Donegan, son of ex-Mayor John B. Donegan of Lowell, Mass., was groomsmen. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party was driven to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George Bradbury French, the foster-parents of the bride, on State street where a reception was held in their honor from six to eight o'clock.

The residence was beautifully decorated under the supervision of Mr. Arthur E. Richardson, with evergreen, running vines, ferns, palms and flowers, the hall and reception room being specially adorned.

In the latter apartment a fairy-like bower was constructed at one end of the room, an arch of spruce framing the front, while the rear and sides were composed of huge bayonet palms and rare ferns, decorated with broad white satin ribbon. The roof of the structure was formed by streamers of similar, asparagus vine and white ribbon, the whole making a very artistic adornment.
In front of the arch Mr. and Mrs. Kelley stood to receive their friends and were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. French and Miss Grace M. Sherwood, niece of the bride.

The bride was a vision of stately grace in a costume which consisted of white liberty silk over white tulle; demit train, skirt trimmed with imperial Brussels net in vandyke points and panels. Three narrow ruffles edged with satin ribbon encircled the bottom of the skirt. Blouse corsage covered with rows of tiny shirred ruffles of narrow satin ribbon. Tucked sleeves with plaited epaulettes edged with ribbon; fall of real lace over the hands. Stock and belt of draped satin. Sash of liberty silk trimmed with ruffles to match the skirt. Tulle veil held in place by a pearl crescent. Bouquet of bride roses and maiden-hair ferns tied with satin ribbon. She also wore the groom's gift, a lovely marquise ring of diamonds and sapphires.

Miss Kelley wore blue dotted mouseline de soie upon a foundation of blue tulle; the former trimmed with dainty cotton; decollete; white gloves. The gift of the bride, bouquet of carnations.

Mrs. French were a black silk gown; waist trimmed with jet; white satin vest covered with black chiffon.
Miss Sherwood was arrayed in white Swiss melle with rows of valenciennes in-terwoven on skirt; low neck with boys of scarlet ribbon on shoulders, and sash of same. Bouquet of red carnations.

The ushers were Messrs. George B. Lord and J. Clifford Simpson of this city, John Gault of Manchester and Herbert J. Willard of the Boston Law school.
An orchestra furnished music for the reception and later for the dancing party given by the groom to the guests at Peirce hall. A large number of society people were present from this and other cities. Among those present from out of town were the following:
Miss Katherine Donovan, Miss Sarah Donovan and Miss Ethel Baker of Lowell; Mr. Albert Filene of Boston, Miss Anna Bockley and Mr. William W. Plomer of Newburyport; Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Spaulding, Mrs. Alonzo Way, Miss Mary A. Kinson, Miss Grace Griffin, Mr. Albert C. Griffin, Mr. William W. Appleton, Mr. Theodore Tuck, Mr. Wilard Howe and Mr. John Sanborn of Haverhill, Mass.

Ralph Green entered for the reception and a fine repast of salads, sweetbread patties, chicken croquettes, varied ices, cake and coffee, was furnished by him and a competent corps of waiters.

After the guests had been presented the bride repaired to the dining room to cut the bridal loaf in which was concealed a ring, a silver dime and a silver thimble, and distributed the slices among the members of the young ladies' whist club.

The ring fell to Miss Cora W. Barnabee, the dime to Miss Mary Garland and the thimble to Miss Ethel Baker of Lowell, the last-named young lady also securing the bride's bouquet as she tossed it into the merry crowd at the foot of the stairs as her descent to her carriage a few minutes later.

After cutting the cake the bride retired to her room to dress for her wedding journey and soon reappeared in her traveling dress, a dark blue camel's hair canvas over red silk, trimmed with fancy soutache and martens; box coat, and hat to match.
Mr. and Mrs. Kelley departed on the Flying Yankee for trip to Boston, New York and the South, expecting to be absent about two weeks after which they will return here and reside at their home No. 22 Middle street.

The groom's gift to his bride was a handsome scarf pin, while the bride's gift to her maid was the lovely gown that became her so well.
The bride and groom were the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents, which the guests were permitted to view after the ceremony.
Mr. and Mrs. Kelley have hosts of friends in this city and one and all unite in wishing them years of unalloyed happiness.

THE ASSISTANT MARSHALSHIP

There is the liveliest kind of a hustle going on for the position of Assistant Marshal made vacant by the death of W. S. Gray and the candidates are not all among the present members of the force. Among those who would like to wear the police uniform are Charles W. Shannon, James Whitman, John E. Leavitt, Police officers Lamont Hilton, Michael Hurley and Frank West. The HERALD understands that it is not the intention of the commission to increase the number of the force and that the Assistant Marshal will be selected from the present force. The pay of the Assistant Marshal is just the same as the other officers.
